Lord of the orcs, goblins and ogres.

The energy inside Stonebridge Games is infectious. Just ask our very own Eugene Waara, store owner and gaming enthusiast. Since 2004, his 3,000 square foot battleground has hosted epic wars between ogres and warlocks, Pikachu and Magmars and more.

When he's not lording over his legions, you'll find Eugene with friends at Mike O'Shays or cheering for his son at Skyline High football games.

Can you feel the energy? There's so much of it right here in our town. Show your vigor and share your enthusiasm by shopping Longmont this holiday season.
